Pacific Tsunami Museum

Situated in tsunami-vulnerable Hilo, the Pacific Tsunami Museum stands as a living memorial to past victims and a bulwark against future complacency. Its presence is a powerful symbol, emphasizing the inevitability of future tsunamis and the critical need to prepare.

Corporate Support

Local businesses and corporate partners are integral to the Museum's success and sustainability—from First Hawaiian Bank's donation of our bayfront building in 1997 to the continued investment in our mission by local businesses like KTA, HPM, Kama'aina Motors, and many others. Their contributions have enabled the Museum to educate and inspire citizens and community leaders to take our tsunami threat seriously and prepare for the next event.

Corporate support plays an indispensable role in our ability to promote tsunami awareness, preparedness, and education within our community and beyond. It provides vital funding and resources that enable us to reach tens of thousands of residents and visitors annually.
